Do you receive BAföG (student loans)?     yes    no

In accordance with the scholarship announcement, I have enclosed the following documents with the application:

1. proof of the achievements so far in the degree programme (= printout of the grade table)
2. detailed written summary of the planned expenditure (incl. total amount!) for books or other learning materials (see attachment)
3. endorsement of my application by the university lecturer responsible for my degree programme (subject advisor) with regard to the planned expenditure for the procurement of books or other learning materials and the previous study achievements (see attachment)
4. current BAföG notification

written proof that the current net monthly income<sup>1</sup> of the person(s) obliged to pay maintenance does not exceed twice the tax-free allowance pursuant to §25 Abs. 1 BAföG plus the single tax-free allowance pursuant to §25 Abs. 3 Nr. 2 BAföG for each dependent child, including the student himself/herself.

<sup>1</sup> As a rule, the income tax assessment of the penultimate year before the application is decisive for the net income ( $[\text{taxable income} / \text{tax}] \div 12$ ), whereby negative income (e.g. from trade or renting and leasing) is to be deducted, i.e. the taxable income is fictitiously increased. In exceptional cases (e.g. if the current income is lower), other proof of income (e.g. income tax certificate, pension notice, notification of 'Arbeitslosengeld II' [Unemployment Benefit II]; in the case of self-employed persons also the profit and loss account) may be accepted
